Directed by William Kaufman (The Prodigy, The Hit List) and co-written with Jay Moses (The Prodigy, Shotgun Kiss), Sinners & Saints is set in lawless, storm-ravaged New Orleans, where Detective Sean Riley (Strong) is coping with the death of his young son and abandonment by his wife. Facing probable suspension, he is teamed with a young homicide detective to solve a series of brutal murders that plunged the city into a major gang war. As clues stack up, Sean realizes that Colin O'Neil (Flanery), his childhood friend, is at the center of a plot far more sinister than he could have imagined.

The world premiere of Sinners & Saints, held last month at Arclight Hollywood at the Cinerama Dome in Los Angeles, drew stars like Eric Bana (Munich, The Time Traveler's Wife, Star Trek, Armored, Hulk, Troy) and William Fichtner (The Dark Knight, Black Hawk Down, Prison Break). The film has also been selected for the Cannes Film Festival, Berlin International Film Festival, American Film Market, and USA Film Festival's TexFest. THE STORY

As the leader of an elite "Street Crimes" task force squad, New Orleans Detective, SEAN REILLY, has seen the worst violence the city has to offer. It's taking its toll on him. Life and death are never more than a breath away, and this brutality has become his life. During a routine warrant "serve", Sean's team is ambushed and his partner is viciously killed. Only a year and a half removed from the loss of his son and his marriage in the aftermath, this may be the last straw that finally sends Sean over the edge.

Sean's mentor, CAPTAIN TRAHAN, senses a change just may save Sean from the dark place he's heading and reassigns him to a baffling gangland homicide case that is plaguing the Crescent City's underbelly. Leading the investigation is Detective WILL GANZ, an intelligent family man who loves his job but has clearly stumbled onto a case that is out of his element.

As the clues stack up on the "gangland" case, Sean and Will realize that COLIN O'NEIL, one of Sean's childhood friends and a security contractor just back from the Middle East, seems to be at the center of the case. The street is buzzing with the word that RAYMOND CROWE, the squad leader of Colin's security team, is hunting him down to recover a video that may contain evidence of something so horrible, the implications could reach the highest levels of the government.

With heavy political pressures from both sides of the war and deadly forces breathing down his neck, Crowe has just 48 hours to recover the evidence in time. Sean and Will are forced into a desperate race against the clock to solve the mystery, save Colin, and find the video before Crowe and his merciless band of killers do. Determined not to let each other down, each man must confront their darkest fears and risk the lives of the ones they love the most. But in the end, will either one be able to live with the choices they made or the price they have to pay?

WRITER / DIRECTOR

William Kaufman

Having grown up on the move, William Kaufman has had the opportunity to live all over the world, from Asia to Europe. While in high school in Bangkok, he began his career in the industry working on Robin William's Good Morning Vietnam as an intern in the special effects department.

After film school, he continued in special effects where he learned the intricacies of feature film production from some of the most skilled and talented technicians in the industry. That is also where he began to understand and develop his ability to construct incredible action sequences while working with very little money and half the equipment typically used by the studios. "I got to work with some real geniuses and learned an incredible amount from guys who had worked with everyone from Oliver Stone to James Cameron," he recalled.

Moving on from special effects, Kaufman began working as a second unit director and producer for commercials and independent films. Kaufman then directed his debut feature film, The Prodigy. Against all odds, the film sold out to every foreign territory before being released to rave reviews in the United States. The Prodigy is currently available at every major retailer, including Blockbuster, On Demand, Starz, NetFlix, BestBuy, Amazon, Target, and Wal-Mart. Based upon this success, Kaufman has now shifted his focus towards his follow-up film, Sinners & Saints.

Director's Statement

"Where my last film, The Prodigy, was a bleak tale about a man who drowns in the darkness of his chosen path, Sinners & Saints is about a man who is climbing out of the darkness and searching for hope and redemption. As far as the look and energy, it has the same style and feel as The Prodigy but on a much, much grander scale.

As for setting it in New Orleans, this has been a dream of mine for years, and in the wake of Hurricane Katrina, the scope and dramatic intensity of the story elevated to an entirely new level. The city is far more than a simple backdrop for our cops and killers to chase one another. It's a living, breathing character of its own. As you will see, we didn't spend much time cruising through the French Quarter or the Garden District, or hanging out at Café Dumonde.

This is a glimpse of the underbelly of the city, a world few outside of New Orleans have ever seen. New Orleans is a city where attitudes, accents, and customs are different from any place else in the world. It's a melting pot that never melted, full of Spanish, Caribbean, Sicilian, Irish, African, and Confederate cultures all crammed together, yet divided at the same time. It's a very exciting and dynamic place.

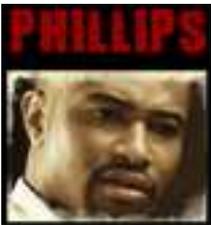

That said, my goal was to make a film that appeals on many levels. Yes, I proudly admit that on the surface, it's obviously a very adrenaline-fueled, genre movie... it's gritty, it's violent and full of action. But for those who are looking for something deeper, I think they will find it has much more to offer."

THE CAST

Johnny Strong - Detective Sean Riley

Johnny Strong plays the film's pivotal role as the wild and dangerous street crimes detective, Sean Riley. Strong is one of Hollywood's hottest actors, having starred most recently in Revolution Films' Black Hawk Down, directed by Ridley Scott. More recently, Costas can be seen in Saw VI, where he reprises his role from Saw III, Saw IV, and Saw V as Mark Hoffman, forensic investigator turned villain.

Jolene Blalock - Stacy

Jolene Blalock plays Colin's beautiful but broken girlfriend, Stacy. Her work can also be seen in Starship Troopers 3, CSI: Miami, Slow Burn, and House M.D.

Method Man - Weddo Varnado

Rap superstar turned actor, Clifford "Method Man" Smith, is the revenge-driven gang leader Weddo Varnado. Coming off star turns in HBO's acclaimed The Wire and the indie hit The Wackness, Method Man is quickly proving he is as gifted an actor as he is a musician. Method Man exploded on the scene as the founding member of the rap super group, The Wu-Tang Clan. His memorable performances can be seen in CSI, The Garden State, Meet the Spartans, and Soulplane.

Kim Coates - Dave Besson

Coates can also be seen in Hero Wanted opposite Cuba Gooding, Jr. and Ray Liotta, Resident Evil: Afterlife, and the new original F/X series, Sons of Anarchy.

Bas Rutten - Dekker

Legendary Mixed Martial Artist, Sebastian "Bas" Rutten, stars as Dekker, an ex-South African commando and the right-hand man of villain, Raymond Crowe. Rutten is one of Mixed Martial Arts' most feared and respected figures, not only for his prolific fighting career but also for his work as a color commentator and martial arts guru. Born in Tilburg, Netherlands, Rutten was drawn to martial arts after seeing Bruce Lee classic Enter the Dragon. Rutten is known as much for his gregarious personality as he is for his pulverizing leg kicks and patented "Liver Shot" left hook. This self-made "King of Pancrase" and three-time UFC Heavyweight Champion makes an exciting addition to the cast.

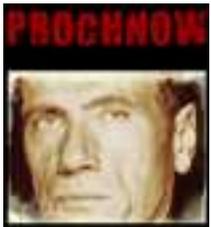

Louis Mandylor - Cole

Louis Mandylor plays Cole, the erratic and deadly ex-Australian SAS Commando, and he is another key member of Crowe's motley crew of renegade security contractors. Originally hailing from Australia, Louis had a career as a professional soccer player and boxer before he fell in love with acting. Jayson Stamper

When most think of movies like Sinners & Saints, they think of studio films because of the big-name cast, explosions and large action set pieces, and the 35 mm look that resonates on the screen.
